

IRON WORKER MAKES A FULL CONFESSION, HE PLEADS GUILTY

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7.—Edward Clark, of Cincinnati, business agent of the Iron Workers' Union, today changed his plea from not guilty to guilty when the dynamite conspiracy trial was resumed.
The session opened with suppressed excitement in the air. Clark took a seat beside Marshal Schmidt, instead of sitting with his fellows as at previous sessions.
"A defendant who has pleaded not guilty wishes to change his plea to guilty," said District Attorney Miller.
"The drop of a pin could have been heard in the court room. Let him stand up," ordered Judge Anderson.
With his gray head hanging, and his hands nervously clasping and unclasping, Clark stood up, a target for the battery of scowls and mutterings of the other defendants.
"How do you plead?" the court demanded.
"Guilty," said Clark in a trembling whisper.
Sentence was deferred and Clark joined Ortie McMannigal, leaving the other 47 defendants in the court room, denying their guilt and ready for trial.
The action of Clark came as a complete surprise to the defense. The government freely predicted that others of the iron workers would also plead guilty, but counsel for the defense were positive that there would be no others to do so.
In his opening statement Miller had told a circumstantial story of Clark's leadership in twelve dynamiting jobs in and about Cleveland. He also said Clark single handed blew up a bridge at Dayton, Ohio.
An ivory handled umbrella marked "E. C." was found at Dayton. This umbrella was used by Clark to keep the rain off the dynamite and was left after the explosion.
In connection with the dynamiting of the Harrison viaduct in Cincinnati Clark wrote to Frank Ryan saying that he had better send a stranger to do the job, adding that he could "not buy any more explosives, and that I got so many out that I'm afraid I can't get any more, as the last time they were up before the judge he said: 'For God's sake don't bring this bunch before me again or I will have to do something with them.'"

Labor Leaders May Soon Be Dismissed

(By United Press.)
Salem, Mass., Oct. 7.—Judge Quinn, who is presiding in the trial of Ettore Giovannitti and Caruso, Lawrence strike leaders charged with murder, conferred today with District Attorney Atwill in charge of the prosecution. Defense attorneys also held a secret conference, but they refused to discuss the situation even to deny the rumor that the prosecution is considering dropping the case.
Officials of the district attorney's office refused to deny the rumor. One of the assistant district attorneys said: "I cannot discuss the case, in any way. I am at a loss to see how such a rumor got abroad."

Bryan Coming

(By Associated Press.)
Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—Chairman William L. Finley, of the Democratic committee, was notified today that William Jennings Bryan will make a speaking tour of Ohio on Oct. 19, 20, 21 and 22nd.

ROOSEVELT LEFT TODAY FOR A TRIP

(By United Press.)
New York, Oct. 7.—Col. Roosevelt was ready today to leave on the 10:30 a.m. express for Grand Rapids, Mich. Several conferences with Senator George W. Perkins and Oscar S. Straus, Bull Moose candidate for governor of New York, took place. The Colonel's departure is the present trip of 18 days. Roosevelt will speak at Detroit, Saginaw, Houghton, Duluth, Oshkosh, Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Louisville, Ky. and a dozen other cities. He will eliminate the car and platform talks.

BALKAN WAR PREVENTED BY POWERS

(By United Press.)
London, Eng., Oct. 7.—The powers' efforts to prevent war between Turkey and the Balkan quadruple alliance are believed to have been successful. The Daily Mail's correspondent in Constantinople telegraphed to that effect here today.
(By Associated Press.)
London, Eng., Oct. 7.—The Balkan situation is considered today in all quarters as more hopeful. The decision of the powers to take joint action to put an end to the crisis is greeted with satisfaction. They will take steps today or tomorrow to impress their views upon Turkey and the Balkan states. Austria and Russia have been selected to act in behalf of the great powers at the Balkan capital, when all the ambassadors are to take part in the representation to be made to the Ottoman government.

LIBERTY WAS SHORT LIVED

(By Associated Press.)
Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—As she stepped from the prison walls today after serving one year, Miss Maud Wilber 21 of Chicago, was arrested by Detective Wm. Murman, of Chicago, on a warrant charging embezzlement of $85 from the Marshall Field store in that city.
Mrs. Wilber is said to be the prettiest woman ever held in the Ohio prison.
"I don't care if they give me ten years," she said today. "Perhaps people will have forgotten my case by then, and I can live down my disgrace."

STEEL TRUST IS BEHIND ROOSEVELT

(By Associated Press.)
Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 7.—That the United States Steel Corporation is "behind the third party program in regard to regulation of the trusts" was the charge made by Gov. Wilson in a speech here today.
Wilson says corroborative evidence of that assertion was coming to him every day.
(By United Press.)
Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 7.—Before a crowd that overflowed the Grand Opera House at Pueblo and applauded his utterances, Governor Wilson today attacked "Taft and Roosevelt and the Republican and Progressive parties." "Mr. Roosevelt's proposal," he said "in so far as the third party platform related to the trusts is that the trusts are a chorus which the government shall undertake to teach to sing. Through regulating the trusts the third party expects to accomplish a program of social reform."
Governor Shafroth and ex-Governor Adams met Wilson at the station and escorted him with a band and a long line of autos to the opera house.

Accused of Crime

(By Associated Press.)
Quincy, Ill., Oct. 7.—Ray Pfanschmidt, 23, was today arrested for murder in connection with the Pfanschmidt family.
The formal charge is that of the murder of Blanche Pfanschmidt, sister of the accused young man. The father, mother and three sisters were murdered.
The arrest followed the finding of a blood spattered suit and necktie beneath an old house near where the young man had been working. On the day of the murder the boy called on Esther Reeder, his sweetheart, and she recalled today that he wore that suit and tie when he called on her.

CAMPAIGN ORATORY IS TURNED ON

(By Associated Press.)
Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—This is to be a week of political oratory in Ohio, as the Democratic, Republican and Progressive nominees for governor will make speeches every day and several speakers of national reputation are billed for addresses.
Bourke Cochran, of New York, who was to have spoke in Columbus last week will speak here Oct. 14th. Congressman James M. Cox, will speak at Branton, Oct. 10 in the afternoon and at Jackson in the evening. Attorney General T. S. Hogan will speak with him at Jackson.

COLLISION, TWO DEAD

(By United Press.)
Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 7.—Two trainmen were killed and five injured in a collision today between a west-bound Western Maryland passenger train and a Philadelphia and Reading east-bound freight at Koberg near Shippenburg, Pa.

ALL READY FOR THE WORLD'S SERIES

(By United Press.)
New York, Oct. 7.—With the exception of a few minor details, everything was in readiness today for the opening of the world's series of baseball games at the Polo grounds tomorrow.
The Giants were scheduled to meet the Highlanders this afternoon in a practice game. The Red Sox will come to New York this evening after a workout on their own field.
The sale of seats which opened today was expected to be unprecedented.
The first men appeared at the gates at midnight last night.
Before daylight this morning about 2000 fans and two fanettes were in line. Only upper grand stand seats and boxes were to be sold today. A total of about 5,000. The real big sale will come tomorrow when the bulk of the 35,000 tickets will go.
It was practically assured today that Joe Wood would be the pitcher for the opener for Boston. McDermott's choice has not been announced.

Traction Car Hits Auto, Six Are Killed

(By United Press.)
Dallas, Texas, Oct. 7.—Six persons were killed near Arlington on the Dallas Ft. Worth Interurban line today when a swiftly moving electric car crashed into the automobile driven by R. E. Cornelius. The dead are Cornelius, his wife and two daughters and his sister and her child.
It is believed that the headlight on the car blinded Cornelius and he ran squarely on the track at a crossing. The car cut the auto in two, scattering the bodies of the victims along the track for 200 yards.
Affidavits charging neglect have been filed in probate court against Alice Gregg, of Rarden, the mother of Lucile and George Gregg. In order to give the mother a chance to redeem her past attitude to ward her children, the court deferred hearing the case until October 10.

DE PALMA IN BAD SHAPE

(By United Press.)
Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 7.—Surgeons at Trinity Hospital announced today that there was no marked change in the condition of Ralph De Palma, who met with serious injury in Saturday's automobile races. Whether perilous will develop cannot yet be determined. Mrs. De Palma arrived today from New York.
A decree in divorce was granted John H. Virgin from his wife, Sophia S. Virgin, in common pleas court Monday morning. The husband charged willful absence. Attorney J. P. Pardon was the plaintiff's attorney.

LA FOLLETTE HAD SLIM FUND FOR CAMPAIGN

(By United Press.)
Washington, Oct. 7.—Col. John J. Hannan, secretary to Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, today submitted to the Clapp committee of the senate a statement of the Wisconsin senator's pre-convention campaign funds and expenses. The total receipts were $63,965, and expenses $63,961.
Some of the larger contributors were Gifford Pinchot, $10,000; Amos Pinchot, $10,000; Congressman Kent, of California, $10,000 and Chas. R. Crane of Chicago, $23,500.

Washington, Oct. 7.—A straight issue of veracity was raised this afternoon before the Clapp committee investigating campaign contributions regarding the story that J. P. Morgan was asked for more money by Roosevelt in 1904 and called Roosevelt a "blankety blank maniac" or some other uncomplimentary name. The whole affair is to be "put up" to Wayne MacVeagh, who has previously testified that he was the source of the tale.
Morgan on the stand last week said it was "made out of whole cloth."
Charles Edward Russell, Socialist candidate for governor of New York told the committee today that he heard the story from J. C. Welliver, a reporter for Hampton's magazine and the Munsey publications. Welliver, who was at the press table reporting the hearing, immediately demanded to be sworn. On the stand he insisted that the tale was substantially correct and he got it all from MacVeagh. Senator Clapp said MacVeagh would be called immediately.
This afternoon Ogden Mills, and former Senator N. B. Scott of West Virginia, awaited examination.

PARLIAMENT IN SESSION

(By United Press.)
London, Eng., Oct. 7.—Parliament convened today for what promised to be the most tempestuous session in years.
Three matters of vital importance were to be disposed of, Irish Home Rule, disestablishment of the church of England in Wales, and election reforms.
The liberal administration supports all these measures with the conservatives fighting them.

SEN. PFEFFER IS DEAD

(By United Press.)
Topeka, Kansas, Oct. 7.—William A. Pfeffer, the first and only Populist United States senator, and founder of the Populist party, died today at the home of his daughter at Grenola, Kansas. He was elected to the senate from this state. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1831.

INSURANCE CO. WINS SUIT

Evidence, in the opinion of the court, failing to warrant even the consideration of the case by a petit jury, Judge Blair Monday Morning took the case of Tina Gayhart against the German Alliance Insurance Company from the hands of the jury and ordered a verdict returned for the defendant.
Gayhart brought suit to recover $300 from the insurance company, through Hutchins & Haman, the local agents, on a policy he held on the company, covering his household goods, which were destroyed in a fire which razed his home, 328 East Sixth street, December 4, 1911. A defense of failure to comply with the terms of the policy secured the defendant's verdict.
Sigmund Haas, of the firm of Haas & Unger, clothes cleaners and pressers, went to Cincinnati Monday to buy some stock.

Some folks claim that politics is getting worse and worse all the time, but my fellows who remember the days of the campaign cigar know better. The campaign lead pencil is a heap better 'cause I don't know of anything that's easier to lose than a pencil—while the cigar—well decency demands that you light the thing at least—'an' there's the rub. Here's the weather for tomorrow:
Ohio—Cooler tonight. Probably frost in northwestern portion to Kentucky—Fair, cooler tonight Tuesday fair.

CHANGES AT THE P. O.

Several changes have been made in the force at the postoffice recently. Assistant Postmaster D. E. Thomas has been named as the financial man of the institution, while Wesley Griver had been named as the superintendent of mails, and will have charge of clerks, carriers—in fact will be the chief of what the postoffice employees term the "work room." Mr. Thomas will, by the change, be relieved of the duties assumed by Mr. Griver, who is one of the oldest and best liked men in the service.

Plans Are Ready

The real estate column in the Columbus Sunday Dispatch had the following notes of interest:
"Architects Richards, McCarty & Bulford are drawing plans for a two-story building to be erected at Portsmouth, Ohio, for A. H. Bonnon."
"Plans are on file at the Builders' Exchange for a four-story slow-burning construction building at Portsmouth for Irving Drew. Architects Richards, McCarty & Bulford will close bids on Monday, October 7."

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Maguet, of John street, entertained in their usual hospitable way Sunday W. M. Maguet and family, of Ninth street, and S. S. Maguet, Sr., of Friendship. A splendid dinner was served and all present had a delightful time.

WILL MOVE TO FLORIDA

Ewing Davis, who has been spending some time with his niece, Mrs. John Sausberry, at Jacksonville, Fla., has returned to this city to make preparations to move to Florida, where he will make his home. Mr. Davis expects to remain in Portsmouth until after the election. His niece was Miss Addie Burt, a former Portsmouth girl. Mr. Sausberry was also a former resident of this city.

INCENDIARY BLAMED FOR THE BERTHA FIRE

Mystery shrouds the origin of a fire, which, early Sunday morning, completely destroyed the general store operated by Andrew Smith at Bertha, Ohio, entailing a loss of $5,000, only partially covered by insurance.

Circumstances point the finger of suspicion at a pyromaniac, of hidden identity, as being responsible for the fire. Members of the Smith household, sleeping in the living rooms above the store, had a narrow escape from burning to death. Forced to flee from their home in their night attire, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and three small children reached the exterior of the building just as the avenue of escape was cut off by a sheet of flame.

Shortly before 3 o'clock Sunday morning, Mrs. Pearl Smith, wife of Andrew Smith, proprietor of the store and postoffice combined, awakened from a deep slumber. Smoke filtering into the room almost suffocated her, and the intense heat from the floor beneath was readily felt, seeping through the floor. She immediately aroused her three children and her husband. Terror-stricken, they fled from the building.

An alarm sounded by members of the Smith family brought quick response from J. A. Dupre, residing fifty feet to the north of the Smith store and C. L. Wood, living only a short distance away. Many neighboring residents, their slumber broken by the ominous crackling of the flames and the cries of the Smith family, also hastened to the scene. In a short time a brigade of volunteer fire fighters was formed, composed of J. A. Dupre, C. L. Wood, Walter Johnson, Bart Hill, William Rapp, Peter Shaner, Thos. Lantz, John Coburn, Everett, Edgar and Thos. Allen, Fred Younger, Lawrence and Leslie Denning, Hugh Colver and John Alcar.

These men, with quick comprehension, grasped the fact that the building was doomed. Flames had enveloped the lower floor and were steadily eating their way into the second story, the living rooms of the Smith family. Attention of the fire fighters was directed to the saving of buildings adjoining.

Attempts to enter the store were frustrated by the flames and smoke. Several trips into the second story of the building saved several pieces of bedclothing. These, with a tank of gasoline, containing fifty gallons, standing outside the building, which was carried beyond the radius of the heat from the flames, a horse, and two luggies, hurriedly taken from the buggy shed adjoining the store, were the only articles rescued from the grip of the fire.

The two story brick building, in which the postoffice, store and living apartments were established, a buggy shed, a warehouse and a coal shed were all leveled by the fire.

From the heat radiating from the burning store and its contents, a kitchen, a dining room and a double porch in the rear of the store ignited. Following in quick succession, a ware room adjoining the store on the south, a coal shed, adjoining the ware room, and the buggy shed, connected with the coal shed, were soon flame swept. Several other outbuildings near the burning buildings in a sheet of fire, were only saved by heroic efforts of the fire fighters. A cistern on the Smith property and a cistern on the Dupre property were pumped dry as the bucket brigade hurriedly formed and the water was dashed on the endangered buildings.

When first discovered, the fire was burning furiously in the postoffice, located in the southeast section of the store on the first floor. Fan shape it gnawed its way through the ceiling to the second floor, swept along the shelves of stock, and unrestrained, it spread to the buildings already mentioned.

Andrew Smith, owner of the buildings and the stock, was forced to stand by and witness the fire rend sport with his property.

In an interview with a Times representative Sunday, Mr. Smith talked optimistically of his loss. Pointing to three brick walls, in the shape of a "U," standing as a skeleton of what only twelve hours previous had been the pride of his life and the fruits of five years' labor, he commented, not bitterly, on the fate which had sent him the misfortune. His only accounting for the origin of the fire was that some unknown party had deliberately placed a burning brand in the letter chute, which opened into his store. He emphasized the fact that there had been no fire in the store during the night.

Near the source of the fire, there was nothing stored which would open a theory of possible spontaneous combustion. "Only some premeditated application of a match or burning brand," was the cause advanced by Mr. Smith, with conviction.

With the exception of the three brick walls, gruesome reminders of the stealthy visit of the fire, the only thing left standing was a large iron safe, standing in the rear of the store. This heavy metal alone stood immune to the attacks of the flames. In the safe are contained many valuable papers, pensioners' certificates and postoffice records. Stamps in the postoffice to the value of $200 were destroyed. Many letters and records also stored in the postoffice division of the store were consumed. An itemized estimate of his loss, Mr. Smith gives as follows: Store building, $2,000; stock in store, $1,200; stable, coal and warehouse, $300; house furnishings, $200. On this loss he carries an approximate $2,500 insurance.

Fifty bushels of coal, which was placed in the coal shed only last week, was totally destroyed. Hay, corn and oats stored in the warehouse, are a total loss.

Throughout the day Sunday, the ruins continued to smolder. Many citizens of Portsmouth and inhabitants of Scioto county for miles around, visited the scene of the conflagration. Mrs. Smith and three children, Ethel, Louise and Lowell, were given accommodations at the home of Mr. Smith's brother, Clyde Smith, residing on the Carey's Run road. They were not only deprived of their home, but of clothing and all earthly belongings by the fire.

Mr. Smith stated late Sunday evening to a Times representative that he intended to rebuild and to re-establish the store. With O.

the establishment, the mainstay of the inhabitants of Bertha, and the postoffice completely wiped out, the residents also feel the effects of the fire keenly.

An effort to open the large iron safe Sunday, was futile. Heat retained from the fire by the safe was so intense that Mr. Smith and his assistants were baffled. The strong box is supposed to be fire proof, and Mr. Smith hopes that the contents have not been damaged.

Not content with confining their evil to the destruction of the Smith property, the fire impels struck out into a wider range. They compelled A. W. Malone, who operates a small store about fifty feet to the south of the Smith store, to move most of the stock from the building, through fear that it would catch from the flying embers. In rolling a 60-gallon barrel of gasoline over the embankment of the old canal, the barrel burst and the contents saturated the ground. The gasoline is a complete loss. In running around in his stocking feet, A. W. Malone ran a thorn into his foot. He was badly handicapped Sunday in rearranging his stock by being crippled. He also sustained a severely gashed hand as the result of catching the member on a sharp edge of a box he was handling during the excitement attendant on the fire.

The prevalence of a dense fog is given credit for the prevention of other buildings near the Smith store from catching fire from the floating embers. Practically no wind was blowing, and with the blanket of fog settled over the country, the brands were dropped to the ground just outside of the radius of the heat activity.

Watch Your Refrigerator. You'll save many a dollar bill by watching your refrigerator. Keep it absolutely clean all the time. The best way to clean it is to take clean hot water, make a suds with Easy Task Soap and wash every nook and corner in the ice box and refrigerator. Then the food doesn't get smelly and carry disease germs to the table. Easy Task Soap being made of pure coconut oil, borax, naphtha and clean tallow, is antiseptic as well as cleansing. It is a wonderful soap and a nickel a cake.

G. P. JOHNSON TO TAKE NEW POSITION

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 7.—Reports from Norfolk, Va., are to the effect that George P. Johnson, now receiver of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, with headquarters at Detroit, Mich., will become President of the Norfolk Southern, with headquarters at Norfolk. Mr. Johnson is a son of the President L. E. Johnson, of the Norfolk and Western, and was formerly general superintendent of the Western General division of that road.

NO MORE CONSTIPATION

It's Me for Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all. If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

Thousands take one every night, just to keep right. Try them. "Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus,

The Sunday school at Trinity looked stranger to the regulars Sunday, owing to the absence of so many officers and prominent members who are at the Methodist Conference at Columbus. New men were on the job all along the line, and they without exception acquitted themselves with signal ability. Prof. Charles C. Bridwell of the Portsmouth Business College, was acting superintendent. Secretary George Gulker also filled in as singing master, and he was as successful in pulling music from the crowd as are those two past masters of the art, Prof. L. W. Bragdon, the regular master, and Rev. W. C. Hartinger, who has been acting for Mr. Bragdon. Hon. Frank Appel taught Mr. John T. Breese's class of young men, Col. George L. Pake, the teachers' training class, while in the big men's bible class room President Jack Hood mounted the rostrum and assumed Prof. Finney's burden with inimitable grace and efficiency. Most of the class had read or heard of the "Hymn That Jack Built," but few knew before Sunday that Jack could build a sermon. Well, he can. He had collaborated a great bunch of scriptural facts, combined with a flow of oratory that would do justice to Billy Sunday, or come of the other rapid-fire double-action speakers, but the best of all was that Jack was not the least bit stricken with stage fright, but held the class down to the lesson in regular Finneyesque style. He got by nicely.

The lesson was "Jesus Walking on the Sea of Galilee." The question, "Why did Jesus send his disciples away as well as the multitude?" brought several answers, finally agreeing that it was because He did not want them to urge him to be an earthly king. Christ was really tempted, and the inference was made that we are not always safest when with our friends.

When the disciples were not exceedingly alarmed at the real trouble of the storm and became afraid when they thought they saw a ghost, real and imaginary troubles was the subject for discussion.

Then the question was asked, "Can a person be as good a Christian and believe in superstition as if he does not believe in superstition. This brought out much discussion and incidents of superstition. Clarence Currier did the Adam stunt by laying his superstitious to the teaching of his grandmother, but the class would not hold Clarence guiltless.

Peter walking on the water, but falling a victim to his environments by getting his thoughts off of Christ and by Christ saving him, only shows that Christ does not necessarily expect us to change our environment so much as he gives us strength and power to overcome the influences of our environment.

At the opening of the session a quartette composed of Messrs. E. C. Hood, George L. Pake, Vernon Davidson and John McMillan sang "Memories of Galilee" in a very pleasing manner.

After Sunday school, there being no preaching services, the Trinity people visited the other churches and participated in the services.

Next Sunday the folks will all be back home, together with the new pastor, and Trinity will look natural again.

Tried To Kill Self

Dissatisfied Automobile Agents!

Or the Man Looking for a Profitable Business

See the Mighty Michigan "40" at the Cincinnati Show

The famous Forty that everybody is talking about will be the feature of the Tri-State Vehicle and Implement Dealers' Exhibition at Music Hall, Cincinnati, October 14-19. Come and see it!

In hilly sections or on country roads one needs this power. And "40's" now offer more for the money than any other class of cars.

Center control and left-side drive are very important. Then the driver sits close to the cars he passes.

One needs 14-inch Turkish cushions for comfort. One needs wide seats and ample room. Also wide, long springs.

For safety, brakes should be extra efficient. And all important parts should have at least 50 per cent over-capacity.

The body is designed by John A. Campbell, who has designed equipments for kings.

Prove This Yourself!

Now there isn't another car which gives so much for so little as does the Michigan "40."

To prove this we ask you to see the car itself at the Cincinnati Show. We will be glad to go over the car with you point by point.

DEALERS! If you are looking for the greatest agency offer of this year or any year—if you are dissatisfied with your present connection—if you are looking for the car that comes to you 90 per cent sold—this is your opportunity.

All for $1,585

The Michigan "40" offers all these features at $1,585. That's the record price on a car of this class.

This car is designed by W. H. Cameron, our engineer-in-chief. He has built 100,000 successful cars.

Things Needed

On such a car one needs electric lights with dynamo, then the lights are always ready. One needs tires 4 1/2 inches wide, to cut down the upkeep. One needs four-forward-speed transmission—not merely three.

HISTORY OF OHIO'S NAME.

The celebration of the Columbus centennial has created a widespread interest throughout all Ohio of events and incidents pertaining to the state's history, even to minutest details. Among the matters of interest, and especially to students and antiquarians, is the history of the origin of Ohio's name—an account from official archives of the world's original orthography and pronunciation. The most reliable and authentic data on the subject was obtained by a writer of the Magazine of American History, then published at Buffalo, N. Y., who visited Paris, France, in the summer of 1877, where he had access to the official archives of the "Department de la Marine." In the writer's researches he found the original manuscript journal of Capt. Reneville de Celoron, a cavalier of the order of St. Louis, who was sent by the King of France on an expedition from Montreal, Canada, to explore the region of what is now the Ohio country, and lay claim to it in the name of France by discovery and occupation, by the process of burying leaden plates at important points.

In his researches he also found in the "grand archives of the Depot de la Marine" the manuscript diary of Father Boncompagni, the chaplain of the expedition, who styles himself "Jesuite mathematien," and kept a diary record of the courses and distances traveled, the latitude and longitude of the principal geographical points, with notes of important occurrences.

In another department, called the "Bibliothèque de Depot de la Marine," there was found a large manuscript map, 31½ by 31½ inches square, of the country explored, the lakes and the courses of the rivers down the Ohio from the source of the Allegheny to the mouth of the Great Miami. The journals of de Celoron and Father Boncompagni, and the map of the latter contain facts that do not agree in some respects with the history of Craig, Hildreth, De Hass and other authors and compilers of western annals, yet being official manuscripts in the French Government's archives, they must be accepted as absolutely authentic.

As the effort of France to establish a great empire in America after a most determined struggle resulted in a disastrous failure and the loss of much of her former prestige throughout the world, these documents and many others were never published, but have been securely kept on the shelves among the dusty archives of the government department.

In his journal de Celoron calls the Allegheny River the Ohio, or "La Belle Riviere," which he states is "in accordance with the usage of all early French writers since the discovery of the river by La Salle" (1679). The Seneca Indians always considered the Allegheny as the Ohio proper, and their pronunciation of the word was "O-hee-yu," which means "Beautiful River." Father Boncompagni, who wrote it "Ohio" on his map, notes the word in his journal as of Seneca origin, derived from that nation by the French and written by the latter "O-hi-o." Its pronunciation by a Frenchman would exactly represent the word as spoken by a Seneca Indian, the letter "i" being sounded like "e" and pronounced O-he-o.

De Celoron found with the Seneca Indians, who dwelt on the upper Allegheny River, a talented Frenchman named Joneaire, whom the Senecas had adopted and who possessed great influence over them. The French gave him position and he rendered them valuable service during the period that they held possession of this great Western territory under the name of New France. He was met by Washington at Venango four years later, where the General, then Major, was sent by Governor Dinwiddie, of Virginia, on a mission to inspect the French posts. In a letter subsequently written to Governor Dinwiddie, Washington explained that the Frenchman Joneaire corrected him in the pronunciation of the word "O-hi-o" by repeating it "O-hee-o."

A writer in a publication entitled Craig's Olden Time, published at Pittsburgh about 1845, related the fact that the Seneca Indians, who were the dominant tribe of the region for many years, considered the Allegheny and the Ohio as all one river and pronounced its name as it is spelled in English "O-hee-yu." This writer made a little explanation of the manner in which the first English explorers and pioneer frontiersmen, who first occupied the Ohio country, forced the pronunciation from the French "O-hee-o" to English "O-high-o," "thus making unmistakable the typical English long sound of the letter 'i' in the word."

"This is the history of how the word was Anglicized from the French pronunciation and this is the reason why the grand old word Ohio is pronounced with an English long 'i'."

BIG RALLY DAY AT THE GERMAN M. E. CHURCH

Sunday was rally day at the J. Baumann, the pastor spoke on "The Value of the Sunday School to the Kingdom." A very large congregation heard the splendid rally day sermon.

In the evening Rev. Baumann delivered his third address during the day and he saved the best for the last. His subject was "Christ, the Ideal Citizen."

A quartet composed of Miss Anna Youngman, Miss Bertha Clausen, Mr. J. W. Gruber and Mr. John Resinger, sang several selections which were greatly enjoyed. The German Methodist orchestra rendered a special program which added to the enthusiasm of rally day.

REV. J. W. DUNNING BEGINS
A FINE SERIES OF SERMONS

Rev. J. W. Dunning began a series of sermons Sunday night which will demand the interest and attention of church-goers. His first subject was heard and enjoyed by a very large congregation. He took for his subject, "Should Smith Go to Church?"

In part he said:
 We are living in the greatest age of insurgency the world has ever seen. The political insurgent is only one of many. Institutions that have grown hoary with age are opened to violent criticism if not attack. Our government which we had supposed was the last word in statecraft is being taken apart by enthusiastic politicians who want to see the wheels go round. Our schools are attacked in such startling headlines as this, "The Utter Failure of the Schools." The divorce increase is the insurgent movement in the home.

It would be surprising indeed if the church should escape. One of the popular amusements of the present is to "take a crack at the church."

Behind the evident joy that insurgency offers, there is in all these attacks of our current literature the mistaken idea that the church is a decadent institution, that has lost its power in the world. Nothing could be further from the truth. If these critics who call the church decadent will only study the history of the past, they will stop sighing for "good old days of the past," when people crowded over one another to get into the church. That day never was. Reader any writer of the 16th or 17th century, or even of the 18th or early 19th, and you will find the same complaint. If there are such things as good old times they certainly have not been in the past.

The latest cry against the church is from one of our novelists, who asks the question, "Should Smith Go to Church?" By Smith he means those people who have no use for it, who are not devout enough, but have no use for the church. To answer the question the author asks a second: "What is wrong with the church?" It never occurs to him to ask if anything be wrong with Smith. Then he tells us why Smith does not go.

1. He does not like the preaching. The preachers are afraid to tell what they know to be the truth about religion, for fear of offending the orthodox. They do not dare preach against the sins of those who pay their salaries, so they spend their time giving dry discussions of theology, disputed texts, and dogma.

I think of this is Smith's idea of what the preachers are doing. He must have quit going to church fifty years ago. It would be a good thing for him to attend and see what the preachers ARE talking about. The charge that the preachers are subsidized by the orthodox and the rich is false. Smith's criticism is an excuse, not a reason. "Smith doesn't care a farthing for the state of his soul," says the writer. That is why he doesn't go to church. What does he care for? He likes his automobile, his golf and the theatre. Well, if I will preach a sermon on "The relation of golf sticks and spark plugs to the moving picture business" I will land Smith. But Jones and the others who are interested in "the state of their souls," will jump out of the window.

2. Again, Smith does not think the church is "efficient." It does not pay. There is too much denominational rivalry and contention. The church can never amount to anything till the denominations get together. Smith will have nothing to do with the church because it is inefficient.

Well, Smith, you don't take that attitude toward anything else. Your city government is about the most inefficient thing in the world, but you still vote, and take an interest in politics. The very inefficiency of the church ought to be a challenge to you to make it efficient. No man has a right to criticize who has not made some positive contribution to correct the evils of which he complains.

3. Once more, Smith declares the church is not practical. It was a sad day when the church allowed the practical things of religion to slip out of her hands. He points to the charities, the Y. M. C. A., the hospitals and all practical works as apart from the church, and says he will stand by these but will have none of the church.

Well, Smith has a false view of what the church is here for. It is not here to do all these things, but to build up the kind of manhood in the community that will hard on your door with his club do them. She is not concerned with getting credit for all these off. And then have him turn a things so long as God's work is done, and she furnishes the life and inspiration that does them.

She does that. Ninety-five per cent of all the money contributed to these works comes from Christians and church members. The people who man these charities are church members. Not a week passes but I do not receive some request to present one of these causes in my pulpit—the leaders who are behind them. The church has not lost its grip on these. The church is their mother, and feeds and nourishes them today. If Smith likes these things he better come into the church and get in on the ground floor of all these movements.

4. The last thing that keeps Smith from church is that he thinks the faults of the church are unique and innumerable. Therefore, what's the use?

The faults of the church are not unique. They are the same faults that are found wherever men are, and as readily cured here as anywhere.

The church clings to the past, and decides everything by precedent. Well, what does law do? Is there anything more out of date than our laws? What in law have call "the precedents," in religion they call bigotry.

The church is divided. Well, so are the doctors and politicians. It would be a fine thing if the doctors and politicians would get together and save all this waste and inefficiency of competition.

The preachers are subsidized and cater to the people who pay their salary. Well, what about the newspapers? In them "the man that pays the fiddler calls the tune." Woodrow Wilson said the other day that he couldn't get good lawyers for the bench because they were all sold out to "some interest."

The church evils are not unique. They are curable. Three things will have no minister at the rally but they expect to secure a new pastor in the near future.

1. The church is not a perfect institution. But she is better, grander today than ever. She is not decadent, but growing. She will be able to worry along if Smith never comes into her fold.

2. The church does desire to win Smith. She needs him for her own sake, for Smith's sake. Smith is missing a great deal more than the church that he does not come in.

3. The church has not done all she can do. She must revive and work. She can accept Smith's criticisms and apply them so far as they are practical. It would be a mistake to conform at once to all he wants, for "he doesn't care a farthing for the state of his soul." Jones and Clark and the other fellows in the church do care. "It is a poor policy to swap horses in the middle of the stream."

The evils in the church ought to be a challenge to Smith. His criticisms have opened a field of activity for him. If he is not a selfish worldling he will come into the church and use his ability to make it what it should be.

No man has a right to criticize and he heard who has not himself made some positive contribution to correct the evils of which he complains.

P. H. S. CLASS

LARGE ONE

It is now thought the class of 1913 at the Portsmouth High School will be the largest ever turned out. The record so far is 41, but this will be beaten by at least four if all the members succeed in making satisfactory grades. Up until Friday the class numbered 49, but one of its members, J. M. Fowler, Jr., left Monday for Zanesville, where he and his parents will locate.

East End Citizen
Writes Of Police

The Times has received the following letter from a railroad employee, who for obvious reasons does not desire to have his name used. He fears that the police may single him out for persecution if they get a clue to his identity. The Times knows the man and knows that he is a reliable man. Here is his letter:

Editor Times—Talking about the head police, how would you like to be a hard-working railroad man, sleeping soundly with your family at 1:30 a. m., and be awakened by a cop pounding on your door with his club do them. She is not concerned with getting credit for all these off. And then have him turn a things so long as God's work is done, and she furnishes the life and inspiration that does them.

She does that. Ninety-five per cent of all the money contributed to these works comes from Christians and church members. The people who man these charities are church members. The church clings to the past, and decides everything by precedent. Well, what does law do? Is there anything more out of date than our laws? What in law have call "the precedents," in religion they call bigotry.

The church is divided. Well, so are the doctors and politicians. It would be a fine thing if the doctors and politicians would get together and save all this waste and inefficiency of competition.

The preachers are subsidized and cater to the people who pay their salary. Well, what about the newspapers? In them "the man that pays the fiddler calls the tune." Woodrow Wilson said the other day that he couldn't get good lawyers for the bench because they were all sold out to "some interest."

The church evils are not unique. They are curable. Three things will have no minister at the rally but they expect to secure a new pastor in the near future.

1. The church is not a perfect institution. But she is better,

Exclusive Wedding Gifts For October Brides

One of the happiest times of the bride's life is her wedding day. Gift-givers add to her joy, especially when they select a gift that is not commonplace. It is hard work for a jewelry buyer to secure such gifts. However, we have won the confidence of a large number of patrons by the painstaking care with which we make our selections. In order that we may secure something that is different and which will be more than appreciated by the recipient.

Our designs in Sterling Silverware include the concepts of the most skillful designers, and are most rich in their simplicity.

SUGGESTIONS IN WEDDING SILVER.

Also have some beautiful patterns in Cut Glass which will enhance the beauty of any dining room buffet.

Help!

Everybody wants to succeed; nobody courts failure. And still but comparatively few men lay the foundation for success.

In business most men fail even to get a start, be-

HEAVY DOCKET FACED MAYOR TYNES MONDAY

A rather heavy docket marked Monday's police court, the session occupying the greater part of the morning.

Jim Walls and Will Spaulding, negroes, were held to the grand jury in the sum of $500 each for assaulting with intent to kill John Wright, an N. & W. section man, September 30. Wright, with his right eye heavily bandaged, was one of the witnesses to appear against the pair.

The defendants claimed they were talking about different states, when they passed Wright, who warned them against saying anything disparaging about Virginia, at the same time calling them vile names and making a move towards them with his shovel.

Wright himself claimed he had paid no attention to the two until they had relieved a young fellow section man of a shovel, and feared to wage they could beat him shoveling and then picking a quarrel with him. They halted him several times, and after accusing him of being mixed up in a shooting scrape in Kentucky, began showering him with rocks, one of which knocked him senseless. He identified Walls as the one who threw the first rock.

Ben Irvin, the section foreman, and others of the crew who were attracted to where the fight was taking place, all identified the two and testified to having seen both throwing rocks and threatening to kill Wright. According to the witnesses the assault was wholly unprovoked.

Walter W. Hall, claiming to be a fireman on the Norfolk division of the N. & W. railway, was also bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond for alleged highway robbery. Hall was taken into custody after he himself had caused the arrest of Michael Haas, an employee of Isaac Quasner, a junk dealer, late Saturday night.

According to Haas he had been over in Kentucky, and while on his way to Fultz's boarding house on Third street, stopped in a saloon, where he found some men engaged in a heated argument. He upbraided one of the men for mistaking an older man, then stepped outside. Once he was on the sidewalk, he said the stranger, who afterwards gave his name as Hall, stepped up and took hold of him, telling him he wanted him. Haas demanded to know what authority he had and the man insisting that he was an officer, commenced pummeling him, just as they got in front of police headquarters, he suddenly halted and turned back, saying he had something to say to him. He took Haas into Newman's alley and there began making threats to kill him. A fierce struggle ensued. Earl Purcell was sitting in the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jos. G. Reed, was attracted by the noise, and threatened to call an officer. Hall then hastened towards headquarters for help and Haas was caught on Front street. Once he reached headquarters, he discovered he had been relieved of his money, two five dollar bills and the twenty dollar bill. He at once accused Hall of taking the money during their struggle. Mr. Purcell also informed the officers that Hall had been abusing the other, who was under the influence of liquor, while Hall was sober. Hall accordingly was also taken up. Something like $21 was found on him when searched, a watch and glasses belonging to a woman named Dolly Hunt, with whom he had an engagement for that night. It was afterwards learned he had a twenty dollar bill changed at the Bank house, in payment for a room he never occupied.

Haas told the court that after Hall was locked up, the latter made overtures to him, offering to make good the money he had lost, if he would not prosecute him. John Royce, who had also been held as a witness, testified that Hall sought to have him "finish up" Haas by agreeing to turn over thirty dollars to him and promising Royce $10 for his trouble. Ed. Little, a prisoner, also testified that Hall was trying to "fix" matters with Haas.

Chief Phillips informed the court that Clyde Hennum and a man named Browning had also been held by Hall impersonating an officer and seeking to extort money from them. This Hall vehemently denied.

William Hart, a former local marketeer, now of Adams county, was accused that a man of his age, 65 years, should know better than to get drunk, Jeff McClung and Frank Starks, colored, plain drunks, were given the minimum of $5.00 each.

Ed. Cook, an Interstate Transfer Company employee, and Evan Campbell, of Ashland, Ky., who had a fight on Brunner's corner late Saturday night, were fined $5.00 each.

Ernest Clark, an East End young man, who while drunk made an unprovoked attack on Ben Reissner, young brother of Joe Reissner, on Chillicothe street late Saturday night, was fined $5.00 for drunkenness and $10 for disorderly conduct and promised a work house trip next time, as it was his second offense. Clark was reminded that he skipped out some months ago to escape prosecution for furnishing liquor to a minor; but was granted immunity and permitted to return upon his written promise to refrain from drink.

Ed. Sally was dismissed of a charge of disorderly conduct, his wife failing to appear against him, as promised. She claimed he had struck her, following a dispute over money.

John Davidson was fined $5.00 for indecent conduct in the vicinity of the Christian Alliance meeting place, but the fine was later remitted.

Morris Williams and J. B. Postiek were fined $5.00 each for disorderly conduct. The men are sons-in-law of James Durrach, of the Norfolk Hotel, and fell out over something disparaging Mrs. Postiek is alleged to have said about Williams. The latter pleaded guilty, but Postiek entered a plea of not guilty. The mayor held that while Postiek did not appear to have been the aggressor, he was guilty of disorderly conduct, in that he had fought with Williams. Mr. Durrach, against whom also an affidavit was filed, was dismissed, as no evidence was developed to show he had interfered with the officers. It was he who separated the two men.

According to Haas he had been over in Kentucky, and while on his way to Fultz's boarding house on Third street, stopped in a saloon, where he found some men engaged in a heated argument. He upbraided one of the men for mistaking an older man, then stepped outside. Once he was on the sidewalk, he said the stranger, who afterwards gave his name as Hall, stepped up and took hold of him, telling him he wanted him. Haas demanded to know what authority he had and the man insisting that he was an officer, commenced pummeling him, just as they got in front of police headquarters, he suddenly halted and turned back, saying he had something to say to him. He took Haas into Newman's alley and there began making threats to kill him. A fierce struggle ensued. Earl Purcell was sitting in the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jos. G. Reed, was attracted by the noise, and threatened to call an officer. Hall then hastened towards headquarters for help and Haas was caught on Front street. Once he reached headquarters, he discovered he had been relieved of his money, two five dollar bills and the twenty dollar bill. He at once accused Hall of taking the money during their struggle. Mr. Purcell also informed the officers that Hall had been abusing the other, who was under the influence of liquor, while Hall was sober. Hall accordingly was also taken up. Something like $21 was found on him when searched, a watch and glasses belonging to a woman named Dolly Hunt, with whom he had an engagement for that night. It was afterwards learned he had a twenty dollar bill changed at the Bank house, in payment for a room he never occupied.

Haas told the court that after Hall was locked up, the latter made overtures to him, offering to make good the money he had lost, if he would not prosecute him. John Royce, who had also been held as a witness, testified that Hall sought to have him "finish up" Haas by agreeing to turn over thirty dollars to him and promising Royce $10 for his trouble. Ed. Little, a prisoner, also testified that Hall was trying to "fix" matters with Haas.

Chief Phillips informed the court that Clyde Hennum and a man named Browning had also been held by Hall impersonating an officer and seeking to extort money from them. This Hall vehemently denied.

William Hart, a former local marketeer, now of Adams county, was accused that a man of his age, 65 years, should know better than to get drunk, Jeff McClung and Frank Starks, colored, plain drunks, were given the minimum of $5.00 each.

Ed. Cook, an Interstate Transfer Company employee, and Evan Campbell, of Ashland, Ky., who had a fight on Brunner's corner late Saturday night, were fined $5.00 each.

Ernest Clark, an East End young man, who while drunk made an unprovoked attack on Ben Reissner, young brother of Joe Reissner, on Chillicothe street late Saturday night, was fined $5.00 for drunkenness and $10 for disorderly conduct and promised a work house trip next time, as it was his second offense. Clark was reminded that he skipped out some months ago to escape prosecution for furnishing liquor to a minor; but was granted immunity and permitted to return upon his written promise to refrain from drink.

Ed. Sally was dismissed of a charge of disorderly conduct, his wife failing to appear against him, as promised. She claimed he had struck her, following a dispute over money.

EXCURSION ON N. & W.

The N. & W. excursion season ended Sunday when exactly 348 persons from here made the trip to Cincinnati. The excursion from Ironton was also well patronized. Most of the excursionists attended the closing game of the National league season and saw the Pittsburgh Pirates hammer Rube Benton and McPherson all over the lot. The Reds, however, had clinched fourth place on Saturday.

WITH THE SICK

Christian Haubell, retired German gardener, of 522 Fifteenth street, is critically ill and it is feared he cannot long survive. He is suffering with pneumonia.

Thos. G. Keefe, of Washington street, has been quite ill for several weeks with grip. Mr. Keefe is clerk at the N. & W.

Miss Rose Rase, of Second street, who has been ill with malarial fever, has gone to her old home in Franklin Furnace, to recuperate.

Patrick W. Kileayne, well known N. & W. machinist, has laid off for several days to nurse a very sore wrist which he sprained.

Alma and Stella, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wagner, who have been ill with diphtheria, are both reported doing nicely.

BUILDING PERMITS

Permits were issued Monday to L. C. Cook for $200 repairs to his property at No. 201 Chillicothe street, and W. S. Sellards for a sanitary sewer tap at the corner of Seventh and Brown streets.

SUGGESTIONS FOR LOCAL "FIRE" DAY

Governor Harmon having recently issued a proclamation to the people of Ohio, in which he designates Wednesday, October 9 as Fire Prevention day, I, as chief of the fire department, have a few suggestions to make.

1. Now that fall is at hand we begin to realize that our heating apparatus will soon be needed and before we call it into use let the chimneys be inspected to see if they are in need of repairs, as defective flues are responsible for a great many of our fires.

2. Stove pipe should be run direct to a brick chimney and never through floors or partitions. Protect floors under and above stoves with brick, cement or sheet metal.

3. Open flue holes should be protected with sheet iron; better to be bricked up.

4. If you are using any rubber hose connections to gas stoves see that they are eliminated. They are a source of constant danger wherever used.

5. If you have been using any wooden receptacles for ashes, burn the receptacle and discard.

Says Girl Killer Was A Mormon Elder

Declaring that Clarence V. T. Richeson, who was electrocuted for the murder of his girl sweetheart, in Boston, several months ago, was nothing more than a Mormon elder, Mrs. D. B. Wells of Chicago more than interested her audience at Bigelow church Sunday afternoon when she delivered her first lecture on "Mormonism." She will deliver a lecture every afternoon this week at Bigelow church on the subject of Mormonism.

Mrs. Wells stated that letters had been found among Richeson's papers, from Joseph Smith, which stated that he was highly esteemed by the Mormon church.

Mrs. Wells says she will show, during her lectures that Mormonism is being taught in Portsmouth. She says the elders and apostles of the church are stationed on the street, at the entrance of moving picture shows and every place, and during her lectures she will show what it means to the country to have them preaching their doctrine.

Ironton Closed Tight on Sunday

Sunday closing laws are now being rigidly enforced in Ironton, every store being closed on Sunday, excepting drug stores and restaurants. The former can only all prescriptions, according to the order, cigars, soda water and the like coming under the ban as luxuries.

The new order was promulgated Saturday by Prosecutor J. C. Riley, who addressed a long letter to each of the business men warning them not to keep open on Sunday and quoting the law. Mr. Riley said his letter was prompted by numerous complaints and that failure to close would undoubtedly result in indictments by the next grand jury.

Was Ironton closed tight Sunday? It was.

ACID TEST IS APPLIED IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

The Republican central committee of Lawrence county, met Saturday and applied the acid test to the candidates on the county ticket. Chairman Harry Mountain told the candidates that they must be either for Taft or Roosevelt and that if they were for the latter or were flirting with the Bull Moose they would have to get off the Republican ticket.

Most of the candidates had been flirting with the Bull Moose but when the law was cruelly laid down to them by orders of A. R. Johnson, they confessed their sins, promised to be good and were received with open arms.

Several of the candidates are on the Bull Moose ticket but their understanding was reached for them to withdraw from that ticket and go on the Republican ticket only. This will leave the Bull Moose in a hole which was likely what the Johnson gang had figured on all the time.

GREEKS READY TO GO BACK FOR WAR

That spirit of patriotism and bravery, which in the past made the Greeks fighters and heroes, still burns, latent, in the hearts of the scattered descendants of yesteryear's Greeks in this city, their ire aroused by the news of the oppressions of the Turks, are preparing to leave the city for their native heath, to participate in the approaching war in the Balkans. Many members of the local colony are under obligation to the native country to serve in the regular army. Transportation back to Greece would be readily provided for them, but they say they prefer to pay their own expenses and allow the funds to revert to the war fund.

A squad of sixty Greeks, should the occasion demand, will start on the long trip to engage in the skirmishes of the allied nations against the Turks in the Balkans. Business affairs are being shaped up so that the cream of the local Greek colony can rally to the cause of their country. A high pitch of excitement has been worked up locally from reports of the approach of hostilities, and many of the Portsmouth Greeks are just itching to pour a little lead into some of the Turkish war dogs.

Not only will Greeks, located in business in Portsmouth make the trip, but many employed as common laborers at the Terminals. Hearts of the Greeks beat in accord when the health of the mother country is endangered. Those who will make the trip, if necessary, are: Thomas and Alex. Chuenles, Chris and Chas. Malavazos, George, James and Nick Maheras, Bill Janerell, Gus Nickas, Jim Papas, Tony Kalo-gine.

But there won't be any war, and so they won't have to go.

Mr. and Mrs. Chad Horz and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Crevelling and son spent Sunday with friends at Washington.

STOMACHS FEEL FINE

All stomach distress quickly ended with "Pape's Diapepsin."

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; it's harmless; it's certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainly and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

GRAIN DEALERS LIKE PRES. JOHNSON'S TALK

The following resolutions were adopted by the Grain Dealers' National association, recently in session at Norfolk, regarding an address by President J. B. Johnson of the Norfolk & Western railway.

"Be it resolved, by the Grain Dealers National association in convention assembled at Norfolk, Va., this third day of October, 1912, that the thanks of the convention be extended to Mr. J. B. Johnson, president of the Norfolk & Western Railway company, for his able address on 'Railroad Building, Service and Revenues.'"

The members of the convention were particularly impressed with the able manner in which the subject so important to the shippers of this country was handled. We were able to gather from his remarks situations that now exist that were entirely new to many of our members, and the unbiased manner in which they were expressed by him added to the respect and confidence that should be given to all officials of important railway companies.

"In handling the subject of expenditures and revenues, Mr. Johnson surely demonstrated to our members the necessity of giving support by our organization to many of the suggestions made by him, especially those of regulating freight rates, and it is the concensus of our organization that previous to further legislation that will hamper in any manner the railroads of this country so as to be detrimental to the shipping interests congress should make a thorough examination and base their actions and the actions of the interstate commerce commission upon actual facts and not upon heresay and complaints that have foundation emanating from sources that are justified. In all Mr. Johnson's remarks, a spirit of fairness was shown and in that spirit it was fully demonstrated that the railway companies were only too willing to meet the shippers more than half way in order to, if possible, relieve both from the many legislative acts that are now the cause of complaint, and.

"Be it resolved, that a copy of Mr. Johnson's address be published in the grain journals and notice be sent to each and every member of our organization, as we consider the address one of the most intelligent, from both the shippers' and railways' point of view, that has ever been delivered before our organization."

"E. M. WAYNE, President. JOHN E. COURCIER, Sec'y."

"Passed by the convention as a whole. Not referred to the committee on resolutions."

Star Orators Will Speak At Ironton

That tireless wheelhorse of Democracy, Capt. P. S. Hart, of Ironton, has been covering all the surrounding region, stirring up interest for the opening of their campaign by the Lawrence county Democrats.

The opening will be next Thursday afternoon and the orators of note that ought to draw out a big crowd. They are Senator Ollie James and Congressman Jim Cox. James is a national figure and his reputation as a speaker is far abroad in the land. He ranks as Kentucky's greatest orator, and that means, without further saying, that he is a top-notch of the country over. Cox, as everybody knows, is the big figure today in Ohio and sure her next governor.

Senators ought to do the handsome thing by Lawrence and turn out by hundreds to help her make a proper showing. Cabell county, West Virginia, in which is Ironton, and Boyd county, Kentucky, in which are Ashland and Catlettsburg, are going to send down big delegations and Sefto should not let them outdo her. To those in this county having automobiles, the occasion will furnish a fine opportunity for a delightful excursion, as the weather promises fair and the Ironton road is in good condition. The trains run conveniently from Portsmouth and back, as the east-bound passenger leaves here at 11:45 in the morning, while the Williamson train leaves Ironton at 6:10 in the evening and arrives at Portsmouth before 7.

Senator James and Congressman Cox will pass through here on the 11:45 and all taking that train will have opportunity to meet them.

Officer Spicer was off duty Saturday night on account of illness.

Fatal Fire Started As Auto Tank Was Filled

A Beeville, Texas, newspaper had the following account of the recent tragic death of a sister-in-law of Charles Burt, well-known Irving Drew Shoe Company salesman:

"Mrs. Robert Prather, wife of the well-known surgeon of Beeville, died at Baylor Hospital, in San Antonio, Texas, Wednesday evening, as a result of burns received while the gasoline tank of the Doctor's car was being filled. With her husband she had gone to the Marsden's garage, on St. Mary's street, and remained in the car while the tank was being filled. As the hose was removed from the tank some gasoline was spilled on a lamp, which flared up, and Mrs. Prather's clothing caught fire. In a moment she was enveloped in flames and was soon suffering with burns covering two-thirds of her body. The men had badly burned hands in an effort to extinguish the flames. She had been taken to San Antonio hospital on Tuesday morning, with the fruitless hope that the best of nursing would result favorably. The remains were brought to Beeville for interment. The funeral procession was one of the largest ever seen in the city, a spontaneous outpouring of loving sympathy for the stricken husband and little ones so sadly bereft. The accident which led to the death of this most estimable lady is one of the most distressing and deplorable that ever occurred in the annals of the city, and is a source of the deepest sympathy for a devoted husband and little children.

Dr. Prather is prostrated over the sad affair and his mother, Mrs. William W. Prather, together with other members of his family from Cincinnati, are listening to his side."

R. B. Tynes left Sunday for Clifton Forge, Va., in the interests of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co.

TOBE MOLER INJURED

Tobe Moler, well known fisherman, trapper and hunter, came near dying of heart failure at his river camp Sunday, from a blow sustained in a personal encounter with Will Phillips, of Front and Gay streets, Saturday night.

Moler was struck squarely over the heart, and though the blow did not knock him down and seemingly did not hurt him at the time, it caused him untold agony all day Sunday. His condition finally became so alarming that he was brought home from camp. He was still in great pain when he visited police headquarters Monday morning and lodged complaint against Phillips, though the latter had since apologized for his act. The trouble grew out of a dispute over a grocery account.

Freshman At Ohio State

Fred Thomas came down from Columbus Sunday to spend the day with local friends and relatives. He has safely launched his craft of scholarship in the Freshman year at Ohio State University and is well pleased with his environment.

ROOF BLAZE ON SUNDAY NIGHT

A defective flue caused a slight roof blaze at the home of John Weeks, of No. 1509 Chillicothe street, at midnight, Sunday. A bucket brigade had the blaze under control by the time the fire department arrived.

25 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF--GROWS HAIR

Don't pay 50 cents for worthless hair tonics—Use old, reliable, harmless "Danderine"—Get results.

Thin, brittle, colorless and store or toilet counter, and after seraggy hair is mute evidence of the first application you will say a neglected scalp, of dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied, causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now anytime—will surely save your hair.

CHANGES MADE IN THE POLICE FORCE

The police officials have for some time past sought to devise some way of relieving Officer Joe Stokley from active duty as a patrolman and the opportunity has finally come with the resignation of Officer John C. Leeds, who retires because of poor health.

Leeds has been succeeded by John Nance, and Joe Stokley has taken Nance's position as day turnkey at the city prison, a place that is to his liking and one which he is capable of filling. Police Clerk John Smith, who has grown weary of his confining office work, has succeeded to Joe's place on the day police force, and Officer Paul Roush has been appointed police clerk in Smith's place. Officer Emory Martin, who has been doing substitute duty, will succeed Roush as a regular patrolman. The changes went into effect Sunday.

The two retiring officers leave the service with the best wishes of their many friends. Leeds was a held-over from the Seavey administration, and because of his efficiency and gentlemanly manners, had the respect of his superiors and fellow officers. He is going to California. Officer Stokley's retirement marks the close of a long and interesting career. He became a police officer in 1885 and has served uninterruptedly ever since, with the exception of one year during the Glidden administration. No better policeman ever patrolled a beat and Joe justly takes pride in the fact that throughout that long period, never was a single charge preferred against him. During the past year his health has been poor and his superiors decided to find for him an easier position, which he so richly deserves.

PARTIAL TICKET PUT ON BY BULL MOOSERS

Not all of the county candidates have not turned up as yet, but, of course, they are of no value now and might as well be thrown into the fire.

George Alvord, who is a candidate for Probate Judge, passed over one of his petitions to a member of the club. At that time the petition contained 27 names. Mr. Alvord has not seen the gentleman since, but when he does meet up with him he will demand an explanation. Those who were successful in filing their petitions, put in some hard ticks on Saturday night. Two of the successful candidates secured 73 names along Chillicothe street alone.

The central committee, named at the mass convention, held a meeting at the club's headquarters Saturday evening and discussed in an informal manner the plans for the coming campaign and talked over the naming of an executive committee. There were 25 present at the meeting, which adjourned to meet at headquarters on Tuesday evening to complete their work. The committee will at once make a request for the services of several speakers of note, chief among whom will be Gov. Hiram Johnson, of California, running mate of Col. Roosevelt. It is hoped to secure Arthur I. Garfield, candidate for governor, for a speaking date late in the month.

Rev. J. W. Dunning, of the First Presbyterian church, Rev. C. S. Robertson, of the Second church, and Rev. L. E. Lee, of Trenton, delegates from the Portsmouth Presbytery to the Synod, left Monday morning for Bellefontaine to attend the annual session. Several matters of state importance will be discussed by the Presbyterian ministers of the state.

The local ministers expect to return home Thursday night.

FRANK L. SIKES

is the only candidate for Probate Judge who has not sought the endorsement of some political party.

The only purpose of the Non-partisan Judiciary law is to remove the election of all judges from that partisan strife usually engendered in a political campaign.

Many of the evils that are attributed to the courts, result from party obligations and promises made by party strife. In several counties of Ohio, no party endorsements were made.

FATHER GOEBEL ON HIGH COST OF LIVING

That people in a measure are themselves responsible for the high cost of living, was the view taken by Rev. Father T. Goebel, the new pastor of St. Mary's church, during the course of his sermon Sunday morning.

Father Goebel took for his subject "The Life of St. Francis," the founder of one of the four great religious orders of the Catholic church, and whose natal day was observed by the local parochial schools last Friday. He drew lessons from the life of St. Francis, who, though the son of a well-to-do merchant, and well-possessed in his own right, found happiness in poverty, forsakes all rank, honors and titles to serve his God. Father Goebel said that if the saint's mode of living were followed today, there would be none of the evils and retardant of the present day when the minds of many are chiefly absorbed on how to "get rich quick," without any regard for the poorer fellow man. "People of our times have adopted for themselves a higher standard of living," said the priest, "and at the rate they are going, the rising generation will be amusement mad. They regard as necessaries what in former years would have been considered luxuries. Were they to practice a little more self denial, self-restraint and live more moderately it would be better for our bodies, as well as our souls. What is needed is more religion and adherence to the principles of justice. If people would practice their religion more faithfully and weigh their just debts it would go a long way towards eliminating the evils and corruptions which the soap-box reformers and Socialists are constantly complaining about.

REV. DUNNING TO ATTEND

Rev. J. W. Dunning, of the First Presbyterian church, will attend the Presbyterian Synod of Ohio, to be held at Bellefontaine, O., this week.
The Synod covers the entire state, and comprises a body of three hundred members, representing all the Presbyterian churches in the state.
Rev. Dunning will be Portsmouth's representative.

MUSICAL EVENING AT FIRST CHURCH

It has been decided by the congregation of the First Presbyterian church to devote the last Sunday in each month to a musical evening.
On these Sundays the pastor, Rev.
J. W. Dunning, will make only a short address, the evening being given over to music. The church is unusually fortunate in musical talent and many excellent programs will be rendered.

Simple Truth
You can only do clean washing with clean soap. You know that natural cleansers and sterilizers, and that they can't harm fabrics.

day work in two and does the work better than it ever has been done.
Ten cents to test it; money back

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp trouble. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good, even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair, that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty-cent bottle of Weyth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist and see what a few days' treatment will do for you.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

K. of P. Lodges Had A Fine Trip

Editor Times: On Saturday night the K. of P. from Magnolia and Musie lodges, joined by the Sciotoville lodge, spent a most excellent evening at Wheelersburg.
The transportation, which was furnished by Sciotoville lodge, was simply grand. It was not the accused route, but the hay wagon route, which Portsmouth lodges certainly thank Sciotoville lodge for. It was a rare treat for all.
The Page and Requir ranks were conferred on Mr. Brown, N. & W. agent of Wheelersburg, the celebration being witnessed by about one hundred and fifty Knights. All lodges took part in the work. After the work was performed and Judge T. C. Beatty and Frank Pratt gave speeches, a most excellent spread was served by the Wheelersburg lodge, which consisted of oyster soup, crackers, celery, ham sandwiches, pickles, coffee and everything else that was good to eat.
They do say that Barnhardt, better known as "Duncy," ate three bowls of soup, while Ed Dreher brought each of his 10 children home a sandwich. George Swally was accused of carrying away his pockets full of celery. They do say that Albert Paston is not allowed to go out alone, so he had an escort as far as Sciotoville and was there turned over to the Magnolia committee.
Bull Mosser Bill Hancy and Baker Adam Pfan and John Nickels were last seen with their machine side-tracked about one mile out of Wheelersburg. They had not arrived yet at Sunday school time, or at least they were missed in their classes.

The K. of P. lodges wish to thank a trip to South Webster in the near future. Magnolia lodge will work the Page rank Monday night.

108 CASES OF DIPHTHERIA

The official reports of city health cases of diphtheria and 4 cases of

All Sores Are Not Cancerous

While all Old Sores are not cancerous in their nature, every slow healing ulcer shows a degenerated condition of the blood. Virulent impurities in the circulation produce angry, discharging ulcers, while milder and more inert germs are usually manifested in the form of indolent sores or dry, scabby places. Efforts to heal an old sore with external applications always result in failure because such treatment does not reach the blood, and the ulcer will continue to eat deeper into the surrounding flesh as long as a polluted circulation discharges its impurities into it. S.S.S. heals old sores of every nature by purifying the blood.
It goes to the fountain-head of the trouble and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which prevent the place from healing.
Then a stream of rich, nourishing blood, which
S. S. S. creates, causes a perfect and natural knitting together of all flesh fibres, making a thorough and permanent cure. The sore does not "come back" when S. S. S. has made a cure, because its source has been destroyed. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice free.

EVENING TIMES SPORTS

NEW WHILE
IT IS NEWSYBowling
Season
Opens

The Peerless Bowling league will open the season this evening, three games to be rolled. The Columbias will meet the Don't Worrys at the Play House alleys; Hinsen vs. the Cozy Five at Distel's alleys, while the Eagles will meet the Steel Plant team at Ye Old Mill alleys.

There is much interest in the outcome of these games and no doubt large crowds will congregate at the various scenes of battle.

PIRATES HERE WEDNESDAY, WILL PLAY AT MILLBROOK

Local fans are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who will meet the All-Professionals of Portsmouth at Millbrook park on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock sharp. Every fan in the city is anxious to take a peep at the runners-up in the National league, a team that as it is now constituted is no doubt one of the strongest in the country.

President Gableman, always alive to the best interests of the fans, has made arrangements to get a complete report of the game between the Red Sox and New York Giants, who on that day will be battling for the second game in the world's series battle for the championship of the world. The play will be received in detail and will be read between innings. When the contest is over at Millbrook the fans will have the full result of the big game. This feature is going to cost President Gableman a pretty penny, but it will no doubt be appreciated by the fans who will be out in full force to see the Pirates and locals in action. The Pirates will line up as follows:

Infielders—Miller, first; McCarthy, second; Wagner or Voix, short; Byrne, third. Outfield—Carey, Wilson and a pitcher or catcher. Pitchers—Camnitz, O'Toole and Ferry. Catchers—Simon and Kelley.

O'Toole and Kelley form the famous $28,500 battery. Carey is second to Bob Bescher in base running in the National league. Chief Wilson leads the entire country in three-baggers. Viox is Wagner's understudy and a very promising lad. He lives at Lockland, O. Byrne is considered by many to be the best third baseman in the country. Jack Miller is the player who succeeded Fred Hunter as Pittsburgh's regular first baseman. McCarthy has played second most of the season. Simon is a hard-hitting, accurate throwing catcher. Camnitz has been one of the team's best pitchers this year. Ferry can hit as well as pitch.

The Pirates claim they would be playing the Boston Red Sox this week for the world's championship if their pitchers had not been slow in getting started last spring. As it is Pittsburgh leads the National league in batting, fielding and long hits. It has also made a new world's record for three-baggers.

In the line-up of the locals will be Hunter, Smith, Weinberg, Schreiber, Meehan, Conwell, Bears and other local stars, who have rounded in from successful seasons in the various leagues, big and little, over the country.

The regular schedule of prices will prevail. Let the fans turn out by the thousands, for the entertainment during the afternoon will not be surpassed in Portsmouth. Buck Yeager will handle the indicator, which insures the game will be handled in an able manner from the umpire's standpoint.

WALTER JOHNSON AND ED
WALSH MONARCHS OF SLAB

In the recent issue of the Baseball Magazine, F. C. Lane pays the following tribute to Walter Johnson and Ed Walsh, whom he considers the greatest pitchers in the game today. After showing why he considers these men better than any of their rivals in either league, he comments on the good points of each and then awards the verdict to Johnson by a shade. He says: "The problem thus resolves to Walsh vs. Johnson, and there I believe it would remain so far as most of the American league admirers are concerned. "Walsh vs. Johnson is a hard problem to solve. Both are wonderfully strong, rugged pitchers, capable of doing an appalling amount of work. Both are essentially different in almost every particular. Walsh is a spitball pitcher, pure and simple. The spitball is his weapon, and he has been for years the master of it. His spitball does not always break right, and when it does not, Walsh is practically helpless, for that is his whole stock in trade. "Johnson, on the other hand, is a speed pitcher, who combines with an unequalled speed, good curves and a fast ball. He is a real pitcher, and he has been with the Windy City club and it is in the nature of things, therefore, more dependable than the spitball pitcher, and that very fact gives Johnson a slight preference over his rival. The choice is small, the balance is almost perfect, but the scales when they tip, go with the spitball. It is absolutely unshakable. Last of the American league favor Johnson."

Lima Scribe Selects
All Star Aggregation

(Lloyd N. Prince, in Lima News.) Picking an all-star aggregation is perhaps the most arduous task that confronts a sport doer. In rare track nomenclature, you're a thousand-to-one shot with the thousand odds against you. Thousands of fans have indulged in their own minds individual opinions of the scintillators and misfits of an organization, and no amount of persuasion is able to dislodge them from their own personal belief. Each and every one of them would perhaps select a different combination. Opinions would be diversified. Likewise, sport writers of a circuit never reach an amicable agreement on a gathering of respective stars, and although several all star outfits have been picked from the list of Ohio State league performers during the past few days, the following looks strongest from a local standpoint: Catchers—Francisco, Lima; Weinberg, Portsmouth. Pitchers—Donald, Portsmouth; Burden, Leontine; Clark, Lima; Marshall, Portsmouth; McGranor, Chillicothe. First Base—Nesher, Lima. Second Base—Whalen, Mansfield. Third Base—Hammond, Chillicothe. Shortstop—Williams, Newark. Outfielders—Meyer, Portsmouth; Kelly, Newark; H. Cain, Portsmouth; Kelly, Chillicothe.

Of Francisco's fitness for top position among the receivers of the circuit there is little question. His throwing the past season was the most accurate of any catcher of the league, and few of the low paths made merry at the expense than of any other. Lickstop of the organization. His hitting was a poor start. A year or so ago John He has $200,000 in the Boston club, of which $100,000 represents his savings. The remaining $100,000 was borrowed from Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox. McLeer tells with pride that for the last eight years his income as manager of the club has been $200,000 a year. He saved his money. Already this he therefore given first draw in the grand lottery. Burden pitched well for several during the second period, and his play exhibited his skill for the star. Although coming to Lima on an unexcused absence, Clark forced to the fore ranks of the State league pitcher and permanently established his reputation as the Ohio State league hall of fame. Fans who read about them from one of the other young twisters in the league, Trautman, of Leontine; Hoffman, of Mansfield, and Tom Hall, of Newark, were candidates for the all-star. However, the selected quintet were given preference over them for reasons of objection.

her husband returning to baseball last year, but she is not sorry now that she finally gave her consent.

A report coming from St. Louis says that Manager Gableman of the White Sox is trying to trade off Harry Lord. Lord is displaced with the showing of Lord, and when in the Mound City offered to exchange Lord for Pratt and Shollen. Lord has caused the reputation in baseball of being a hard man to handle and came to the White Sox with McConnell in exchange for Pratt and Frank Smith. This year Lord was shifted to the outfield after showing poorly at third base.

"On what the Red Sox showed here, notwithstanding the fact that they won two out of three, the Giants will have to be a rather poor ball team if they are beaten by the American league representatives in the coming series. Just how good a ball team McGraw has is questionable. That it displayed remarkable form in the old league during the early part of the campaign there is no doubt, but it has been slumping to a certain extent of late and really had a hard time remaining at the top of the heap."—Washington Star.

BASEBALL

The Boston club has proved a gold mine for James McLeer during his one year's connection with the team. He has $200,000 in the Boston club, of which $100,000 represents his savings. The remaining $100,000 was borrowed from Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox. McLeer tells with pride that for the last eight years his income as manager of the club has been $200,000 a year. He saved his money. Already this he therefore given first draw in the grand lottery. Burden pitched well for several during the second period, and his play exhibited his skill for the star. Beat Steel Team

In a well played game at Millbrook park Sunday afternoon the All-Professionals of this city defeated the Steel Plant team, known officially as the Steel Co., by the score of 4 to 2. Only 125 fans were out, but they thoroughly enjoyed themselves flitting with the sun beams that danced playfully over the field. The day was an ideal one for the game and the players warmed up to their work like so many Jack rabbits on a frosty morning.

"Irish" Conwell, captain for the Professionals and displayed remarkable curves, he simply breezed home and there was never a time but he had the upper hand. He fanned six and allowed but two hits. He should have scored a shut-out.

Schultz, who labored for the Steel boys, pitched a very creditable game. He allowed no hits, but kept them pretty widely scattered. Earl Smith, Milwaukee player, slugged out three out of four, every one being as clean as a whistle. Fred Hunter, who was expected to tear down the fence, was completely mystified by Schultz.

The game teams will play again next Sunday and in large number, as the performance will well be worth the price of admission. The score:

Steel Plant, 4; Professionals, 2. O'Day, 1; Smith, 2; Hunter, 3; Moore, 1; Meehan, 4; Carver, 3; Gordon, 1.

Conwell, p. 3 0 1 0 2 0
Totals 33 4 10 27 12 4
Two-base hits—O'Day, Smith, Meehan. Runs on balls—O'Day, Conwell, Smith, Hunter, 1. Struck out—By Conwell, 1; by Schultz, 3. Stolen bases—Staten, 1; Smith, 1. Double plays—Strickland to Doherty to Staten. Passed ball—Horn. Time—1:25. Umpire—Vee.

PORTSMOUTH BOYS IN FOOT BALL LIMELIGHT

Numerous were the Portsmouth "Gib" Micklethwaite got his month boys who broke into the game into the box score by play-limelight Saturday in the important left guard for Ohio University gridiron struggles, all over in its opening clash with the country. The opening salute Kentucky. The little universities of the 1912 football season was despite the demoralizing playing of an that date. The radiant of our Gilbert, held Ohio to a change in rules made a noticeable "chess and loss" score, each team making a touchdown and kicking up a reasonable amount of an election rather than a contest of piskins. This is attributed to and Mrs. William Briggs of this change in scoring, in the city, was called into the fray in stance where the touchdown counts an additional point. It A. Marting son of F. L. landed the piskin from the Marting of this city helped Yale quarter position. Although a lit-grind Syracuse into the dust to the nervous at first, he soon cooled the depth of 21 to 0, by playing hard and only retired when center in part of the game. The injured his finger in the third quarrel, making a tackle. Of Briggs' clever work, the Ohio State Journal has the following to say: "Briggs also comes in for praise. He is a hustler and gets away through a scattered field like a veteran. He will give the blackberries many thrills, as he did yesterday by his crisp-appearing and running back of punts."

Is Marquand going to be the joke of the world's series? He has been a nervous wreck since his great winning streak was broken. Fridge was driven from the box on the very eve of the big series. Most fans think he will be soundly trounced by the Red Sox if he is sent into one of the games for the world's title.

Like Stahl and Mackie are two giants for the position of first base. They are even in hitting, both are long drivers, and both are perfect marks to throw to. Either is likely to break up a game and play neither position with the same ease of a veteran, though his hitting was slightly better than that of the other. A death of young key-hole station, men scattered a draft from the ranks of the great outfielders. "Babe" Ruth, a well-drafted, muscular shortstop, who has covered the second sack, especially upon numerous occasions, quarter, making a tackle. Of Briggs' clever work, the Ohio State Journal has the following to say: "Briggs also comes in for praise. He is a hustler and gets away through a scattered field like a veteran. He will give the blackberries many thrills, as he did yesterday by his crisp-appearing and running back of punts."

A FORMER RESIDENT IS DROWNED WHILE ON A MOUNTAIN TRIP

Death in tragic form, while he was in the bloom of life came to William A. Vollmer, a former Portsmouth resident. While descending the mountains near Colorado Springs, he fell into a reservoir and was drowned.

News of the accident was brought to this city Monday by a brother of the victim, Paul F. Vollmer, who arrived from Colorado Springs with the sad tidings and communicated them to his mother, Mrs. Katherine Vollmer, of 1638 Seventh street. The mother, brothers and sisters of the victim are stunned and heart-broken. No previous intimation of the terrible fate of the favorite of the family had been received until the brother informed them of the death and interment of the victim.

Only recently Mr. Vollmer had visited in this city, taking his departure four weeks ago for Colorado Springs, where he made his home with his brothers, Paul E. and C. J. Vollmer, both prominent residents of that city.

Leaving home Sunday, September 23, Mr. Vollmer started for a pleasure jaunt into the mountains. Failing to return home Sunday evening, his relatives became alarmed. Early Monday morning a search was instituted for the missing man and his body was found floating in a large reservoir near Colorado Springs.

Foul play was the theory first advanced as the cause of his tragic death. Several bruises were found on his body which led his brothers to believe that he had been assaulted. As none of the victim's personal property had been touched and he had not an enemy in the world, this theory was quickly abandoned. An investigation into the cause led to the belief that in descending the mountains Mr. Vollmer had stumbled, lost his balance and was plunged into the deep waters of the reservoir. Unable to swim and no eye-witnesses to the accident, who could have rushed to his rescue, death, which lurked in the recesses of the water, easily claimed its victim.

Taken to the home of relatives, the remains were prepared for burial. Impressive obsequies were conducted over the body and the victim laid to rest in the Colorado Springs cemetery.

Fear that the shock would result seriously to local relatives, were the news communicated by wire, forced the brothers of the victim from communicating with the mother, brothers and sisters in Portsmouth. Pitiful were the scenes at the Vollmer home Monday when the bereaved brother arrived and gently broke the news to them.

William A. Vollmer, at the time of his death, was 47 years of age and unmarried. For many years he had been engaged in the clothing business, having been established in various parts of Colorado and Nebraska. Twenty-seven years ago he left Portsmouth to seek his fortune in the world. He made good in every respect and a successful career was brought to a close only when the hand of God suddenly summoned him home.

A number of brothers and sisters survive to mourn his loss. His mother, Mrs. Katherine Vollmer, resides on East Seventh street, this city. Three sisters, Misses Ida, Anna and Flora, also reside here. Mrs. Garrett Dee of Hartford City, Ind., and Mrs. Francis Kirsch, of Indianapolis, Ind., two sisters, also survive. Charles Vollmer of Omaha, Neb., C. J. and Paul F. Vollmer of Colorado Springs, are the surviving brothers.

TO STAY IN CALIFORNIA

According to word received here today Attorney J. R. Gilliland, formerly with Bannon & Bannon, of this city, who a year ago went to Colorado for his health, has decided to locate permanently in Pasadena, Cal., where he will practice law.

Crippled On Trip

Two West End fishermen came home in a crippled condition early Monday morning. The unfortunate were "Shorty" Wheeler and Jack Lewis. The former got flung on the hand in trying to pull a fish out of a muskrat hole at the old "Slough," and Jack stepped on the fin of a dead fish someone had discarded nearby, causing a very painful wound.

Diphtheria At Nauvoo

Another case of diphtheria in Nauvoo was reported to the officers Monday. Mr. and Mrs. John Belcher's daughter has contracted the disease.

Cutting The Hill

Seymour & Grimes began cutting away Damarin hill Monday afternoon. Fifteen teams were put to work and the hill will be rapidly cut down.

Dinky Fire.
A telephone call shortly before midnight Sunday called the Seventh street fire department to the home of John Weeks, 1509 Chillicothe street. A bad fire had ignited the woodwork. The fire was easily extinguished with a bucket of water.

Hearing of the application of Mollie E. Zaph, guardian of her husband, Thomas Zaph, an habitual drunkard, to improve certain real estate on Kinney's lane, has been set by the probate court for October 26.

It's A Boy.

Will Bauer, local agent for the Canton Incandescent Light Co., wore a white Monday that would neither blow, rub, nor wear off. A robust boy was born to the Bauer home Sunday and the father thinks the chap the only one on the globe.

Mrs. Bertha Johnson was discharged from the hospital Monday as completely recovered from a recent surgical operation.

Blaine Lang, a youth, was admitted to the institution, suffering with typhoid fever.

BOOK PROVED. HE CAN SCRAP

John Book, coal dealer on week days and preacher on the Lord's day, demonstrated to the utmost satisfaction of a crowd of N. & W. exensionists Sunday, that he was amply able to defend himself against the abuse of a man twice his height and size. John did not exactly live up to the scriptural injunction "that if a man strike you on one cheek, turn to him the other also," for he dodged two blows and then let drive his right which sent his unknown assailant sprawling in a heap.

Mr. Book was aboard the train when the "unknown," who, it is said, was full of whiskey, became quite abusive. He insisted on taking up about three-fourths of the seat, and when politely asked to shinner on his own side, began cursing Mr. Book. The latter informed the dispatcher that while he was a minister of the gospel, he was able at all times to take care of himself. At this point the man pulled a pair of wire nippers from his hip pocket and made two swipes at the preacher. The fight ended in less than a second after that, for the preacher landed a heavy blow on the fellow's cheek that put a quietus on him for the rest of the trip.

Were Riding Freights

Riding freight trains is responsible for Russell Meyers, 16, and Louis Bowen, 15, of 1724 Seventh street, fanning the trail of the probate court. Officer Rome Arthur arrested Meyers and Officer James Dixon took Bowen into custody on Sunday. The lads were given a lecture by the court Monday morning and placed under a suspended sentence to the reform school.

Residents Terified

Police received a complaint about a bear running amuck and terrorizing residents on Mahob Road, Monday. Officer Jim Dixon was put on the trail of the critter and has not been heard from since.

Miss Lillian Heffner, of 1325 McConnell avenue, developed diphtheria Monday and the home was placed under quarantine.

Fixing The Cars

A representative of the Kuhlman Car Co., of Cleveland arrived in the city Monday to superintend the work of installing the restabiles in the new pay-as-you-enter cars, to be put into service by the Portsmouth Street Railway & Light Co. The cars are being remodeled at the barns in the West End.

Completion of the work of overhauling them and preparing them for service is anticipated about the middle of December.

IS GOING TO CLEVELAND

Rev. E. A. Powell, of All Saints' church, will leave Tuesday for Cleveland, where he will attend the Fifth Missionary Council of the Episcopal Church. He will also attend an important meeting of the social service commission in the Fifth Missionary Department of the churches, and also a meeting of the joint commission on school text books in the diocese of Ohio, of which he is secretary.

The meeting will be held in the Purity cathedral in Cleveland.

Provoked A Fight

Joe St. Claire and C. M. McIntyre, two umbrella menders, were locked up by Officer John Smith for abusing and provoking a fight with two other men in a West End saloon, Monday afternoon.

Edward Bowman, 16, and Davis Jackson, 14, were arrested by the police Monday on a charge of train riding. They were placed in the county jail awaiting a hearing before the juvenile judge.

Leo Wilson, of the Friel garage, spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

Laid In Supplies

Andrew Smith, postmaster at Bertha, who had his store and branch post office wiped out by fire early Sunday morning, called on Postmaster Elias E. Hard Monday to secure supplies. Smith lost everything in the fire. Ever ready to accommodate the residents of Bertha, he intends to keep postal supplies on hand until he can re-establish the office.

Engineer Is Here

Engineer C. W. Brown arrived from Buffalo, N. Y., Monday to inspect work on the new water works, and incidentally to submit to the board of health tonight a preliminary sketch of the proposed new city garbage disposal plant. The estimated cost of the plant is $15,000.

TWINS BORN

Twins—a boy and a girl—were born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coburn, at their home on the West Side, Sunday. Mrs. Coburn is a sister of Mrs. William H. Boyd, of Jefferson street. The babies weighed 11 pounds each.

Gerald, little son of Ora Brown, of the Portsmouth Hat Co., developed an attack of diphtheria at the Brown home on the West Side, Monday, which has been placed under quarantine.

White Lilly Council No. 81, Daughters of America, enjoyed a splendid meeting at their hall, Fifth and Court streets, Saturday evening, at which time a large class of delegates were initiated. The local council was visited on this occasion by a delegation of 50 daughters of Ironton. One of the Ironton visitors was given the degree. At the close of the initiation exercises, delightful refreshments were served. The Ironton visitors left for home on the midnight train.

Mr. Nathan Meyer and daughter, Mrs. Arthur Marx, of Columbus, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Haas.

Miss Ella Kinnison, of the Wheelersburg exchange, leaves Wednesday on a month's visit with relatives in Columbus and Marion. At Columbus she will

AUTO TRUCK SENT TO FIRE

Frankie and repeated calls from residents of Bertha, early Sunday morning caused Fire Chief Hancock to order the auto truck to make the run over to the little post office in an effort to save the store of Andy Smith. When the truck reached the scene of the fire the men found the walls of the building saving in. Had the fire just started the truck would have been of little assistance in quenching the fire, as there was no water close from which to pump streams on the blaze.

Residents of the little hamlet, however, feared that the ladders would be needed to rescue property from other buildings endangered. Fortunately these were not needed.

visit Mrs. Charles Gardner, her sister, formerly Miss Edna Kinnison.

Lawrence Patterson returned Sunday from Cincinnati, where he has been roaming over the Cincinnati golf links for the past three days. Charles Mitchell, who accompanied him, remained in the Queen City on business. He is expected home the middle of the week.

Miss Grace Morris is visiting Miss Vina Shuter, of Harrisonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Crato Martin, of the Star Yard, were visitors with her sister, Miss Mabel Schomberg, of Dutch Ridge.

Mrs. John Holbrook, of Sciotoville, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hodge, Thursday and Friday.

ARE TO DECIDE ABOUT NEW CHURCH

Some time the latter part of this week or first of next there will be a meeting of the committee appointed to decide whether or not there shall be a new Presbyterian church located on the hilltop. The committee was to have met last Thursday night, but several members were unable to be present and the meeting has now been postponed until Rev. Robertson and Rev. Dunning return from the Synod.

SCIOTOVILLE R. D. 1.

James Peach is laid up with a gathered hand.

Frank McClintock is slightly improving from rheumatism, but has now got a bad case of erysipelas. Joseph Cox, of Back Run, who is going with the grader, stayed all night Tuesday with F. McClintock. When Mr. Smith moves to Sciotoville, the Peaches will occupy his house.

Ettie McClintock has been helping Mrs. Stella Kuere clean house. There is yet so much diphtheria in the neighborhood that every time a child gets the sore throat they think it has got the disease.

John Perry and family were calling on Widow Martin, Sunday.

DIAMONDS

—Because high grade A 1 diamonds have been and will continue to increase in value more than those not quite first rank—because we are content to forego the slight additional profit from selling gems that are good but not quite first class—because our diamonds have a lustre, brilliancy, and rare color that is uncommon—because of these facts the possession of a diamond sold by us implies more than merely owning any diamond.

BIBLE SCHOOL DREW ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD

Superintendent Charles M. Howland was all smiles Sunday morning, when he faced that splendid and enthusiastic crowd that assembled for the Bible school hour at the First Christian church.

The occasion was the fall rally of the school, and if ever a band of the faithful rallied, they certainly did so yesterday. An even 3,050 were present, and everybody was in an enthusiastic frame of mind. The kids were happy and good, while the grown-ups wore smiles that indicated to a noisy one put on display by the huddling superintendent.

The orchestra seemed to play better than ever, Prof. Bode and his faithful co-workers catching the spirit of the occasion.

Purse strings were loosened, the collection amounting to $82.35, which shows the spirit was moving in the right direction.

And those Loyal Daughters! Maybe they didn't rally to the occasion. They whipped the men's class to a frazzle, having 369 present, the men having only 335. The women had 119 bibles, men, 55, and in collections, they beat the men $37.05 to $26.00. The contest which closed yesterday, was one of the most hotly contested ever waged between any of the classes or departments. The Loyal Daughters, under the enthusiastic and capable leadership of Mrs. Howland, won by 2,419 to 2,390 points. At that the men, generated by Rev. Brooks, immediately challenged the Loyal Daughters to another contest, which will run until the first of the year. The challenge was accepted, of course.

The contest between the Junior and Intermediate departments also closed yesterday, the former winning by a score of 2,083 to 2,079. Some contest, too.

THE EMILY WAS SOLD

Captain John Davis returned Sunday evening, from Parkersburg where he piloted the Steamer Emily, and turned the craft over to W. M. Mantley, of Bellaire, who recently purchased the boat. The consideration was not made public, but Captain Davis stated he was very well satisfied with his bargain.

It was Captain Davis' intention to deliver the boat to Bellaire, but the water was so low at Parkersburg that it was impossible to continue the journey farther. The Emily will be used in the Bellaire ferry trade. She is one of the best ferry boats afloat, being almost entirely new.

Cupid's Bee Is Buzzing

The matrimonial bee is reported buzzing among the clerical force at N. & W. division headquarters. Cupid is said to have singled out at least three victims for the near future.

Baby Boy Was Born Sunday

A 10½-pound baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Bauer of 634 Seventh street, Sunday morning. Mr. Bauer is the tender of the cluster lights on Gallia and Chillicothe streets.

Attend Funeral.
George Swabby and Bob Morgan, of the postoffice force, attended the funeral of Frank Somers' daughter, Katherine, at Long Run, Monday.

HIT ON HEAD BY BRICK

John McGlone, employed on the engine building being erected by the Selby Shoe company, was painfully injured Monday morning when a brick that had been dislodged by a fellow-workman, fell a distance of ten feet and struck him on the head, making a bad scalp wound and one that required three stitches to close. Dr. Moore rendered the necessary attention. Mr. McGlone, strange to say, was not rendered unconscious. He will be able to return to work in a day or so.

WIFE WAS A BAD ACTOR

On the sole ground of adultery, James Cannaday was granted a decree by Judge Blair, Monday, divorcing him from Opal Cannaday, whom he married in this county three years ago. The couple lived together but six months, the wife deserting Cannaday. She is now in Dayton, O. R. C. Myers attorney.

ARGANUM MEETING.

McPherson Council, Royal Arganum will meet Tuesday evening at English hall, corner Sixth and Chillicothe streets. Open 7 p. m. All members are invited to be present.

To Occupy A New Home

Ray Suffran, the barber, will move his family from Seventh and Adams streets to the Will Sellards property on Offutt street. Mr. Suffran is to make his future home with his brother-in-law, Dr. J. H. Rodgers, of Peabody, who succeeds Dr. Sellards in practicing medicine in this city.

Corns Just Dissolve Away

No pain, no cutting, no plaster. No need to press the sore spot. Patented Corn Extractor just makes the corn go without pain. Just apply according to directions and you can then forget you ever had a corn. Just as good for callouses, warts and bunions. It removes the cause and thereby effects a lasting relief. Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor—the name tells the story—price 25c per bottle. Beware of dangerous substitutes and buy Putnam's Corn Extractor, which is sold by Fisher & Streich.

Mr. C. A. Wisdon and family have moved from 1126 Fourth street to 1137 Eleventh where they are nicely located and at home to their friends.

Rev. Violet Coming To Hold A Revival

At a congregational meeting of the First Christian church, Sunday morning, the action of the official board in employing E. E. Violet to hold a revival meeting during the month of February was unanimously approved.

Rev. Violet, who is now at Independence, Mo., held a similar meeting for the First church shortly after the close of the Billy Sunday revival, and more than 700 persons united with the church. Rev. Violet, who has made numerous trips to the Holy Land, knows the entire New Testament by heart, and is an eloquent and forceful speaker. He is generally recognized as one of the best Bible students in the world.

C. & O. Car Ferry Talk Again Heard Here

Renewed talk is heard that the C. & O. railway is again preparing plans for a transfer car ferry here.

Color is given the reports by the fact that the company is raising its properties at the corner of Mill and Chillicothe streets and the presence at South Portsmouth last week of maintenance men. Levels were run all along the river bank by the engineers.

Should the transfer ferry project be started, it will indicate that plans for a bridge across the Ohio here have been abandoned for the present, and that the bridge started at Ironport a few years ago will be completed and jointly used by various roads, among them the C. & O., which will move its heavy freight to Portsmouth over the bridge for delivery at the new depot to be erected some time in the future at Mill and Chillicothe streets.

FINE SERMON BY REV. E. G. HAMILTON

Rev. E. G. Hamilton, of the Grandview Avenue Christian church began a week of evangelistic meetings Sunday night. His subject for tonight will be "What Must A Sinner Do To Be Saved." Last night a large crowd heard the first sermon and much interest taken in his subject "What Must A Backslider Do To Be Saved."

In part Rev. Hamilton said: "Salvation is the one theme of God's revelation. God's one effort is to save. He does not wish that any should perish but that all should come to repentance. All men need salvation—Saints, Backsliders and unrepentant Sinners. But how are all these to be saved? The answer is to 'go on into perfection.' He is to add to his faith, virtue, knowledge, self-control, patience, goodness, love, etc., until he at last reaches the heights of glory and is finally accepted of God. The sinner must turn to God on the easy terms of the gospel and becoming an adopted child of God, must too go on unto perfection."

"But what of the backslider? His case is of peculiar interest because so many are weak and have allowed themselves to drift from their spiritual moorings. We have one splendid example of the treatment of such a one and to that example let us appeal. We read in Acts the eighth chapter of Philip the evangelist going down to Samaria and preaching the gospel. Many heard, believed and obeyed the gospel. Among that number was Simon the Sorcerer. Luke tells us that 'Simon also himself believed, and being baptized, he continued with Philip.' The news of this great revival in Samaria reached Jerusalem and Peter and John went to Samaria to impart to the believers the extraordinary gift of the Holy Spirit by the laying on of hands. Simon seeing this offered the apostles money that the power possessed by the apostles might be given him. Simon Peter condemned the desire on the part of Simon the Sorcerer to make merchandise of the Holy Spirit."

AUTO STALLS IN CREEK

Coroner Dr. O. W. Robe got stalled with his automobile in miscalculating the depth of a small stream of water while returning from Pond creek Saturday evening. Walter Patterson had to go to his aid with another machine.

Dr. Robe found that the sudden death of John Roy, aged Pond creek citizen, had been caused by apoplexy.

Griebel Cigar Store Visited By Burglar

A robbery that amazes all records for nerve on the part of the robber, occurred about 2 o'clock Monday morning, when the cigar store of Leo Griebel, located on Waller street, between Ninth and Tenth streets, was entered and $2 in cash taken from the money drawer and a few packages of cigarettes appropriated for good measure. The nervous thief climbed the panel in the front door, reached in, unlocked the door and helped himself. The store is located only a short distance from the N. & W. passenger depot where the police are loafing a greater portion of the night.

A Few More Good Bargains Left

Discovery of the robbery was not made until Mr. Griebel opened up his store for business early Monday morning. The thief was not even polite enough to leave a clue to his identity.
